Of the Opposition to the Dingley Tariff Bill.

HOUSE AND SENATE FORECAST.

Wednesday at 3 O'Clock the Voting Will Commence on the Tariff Measure—So Far as Known There Will Be No Break in the Republican Ranks—Arbitration Treaty in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Three more days will see the end of the struggle over the Dingley tariff bill in the house. The bill will be open for amendment until 1 o'clock on Wednesday, when the debate will close with a two-hour display of oratory. The voting will begin at 3 o'clock on that day. So far as known there will be no break in the Republican ranks, but at least four of the Democrats will brave the party whip and cast their votes for the bill, three from Louisiana and one from Texas. There is also a probability that one Populist and one Silverite will vote for this protective measure.

Mr. Dingley, who has engineered the bill through the eddies of debate with great skill, will devote his energies to pressing the consideration of the bill forward with the utmost expedition in order to complete it before the vote is taken. But the Democrats are pursuing a course which has thus far rendered progress extremely difficult. But 14 of the 162 pages of the bill were disposed of in the two days of last week. At this rate it would require 21 days for the house, sitting seven hours a day, to complete the consideration of the bill under the five-minute rule. If the present tactics of the opposition are persisted in it is not improbable that night sessions will be held tonight and Tuesday.

The policy of the Democrats thus far has been to attack every item and make it the text for general assaults on the bill. It is understood that they will make a particularly strong stand against the steel and sugar schedules. They do not hope to accomplish anything, however, in the way of amendment. They have made trusts the keystone of their opposition up to this time and the only thing which they really believe they can accomplish is to secure a record vote on an amendment such as was offered on Friday, providing for the suspension of the duty on any article controlled by a trust or combination. They propose to do this if possible by a motion to recommit with instructions after the bill is reported from the committee of the whole. There seems to be a question, however, whether this motion will be entertained under the special order under which the house is operating.

The fact that the reading of the bill may not be completed under the five-minute rule will in no wise interfere with the power of the ways and means committee to perfect it. Their amendments are in order to any part of the bill at any time, and when it becomes apparent that the bill can not be completed Mr. Dingley can assume charge and clear up all the amendments he desires to offer.

After the tariff bill is passed on Wednesday the house probably will adjourn three days at a time until the appropriation bills are returned to it. If they are amended by the senate the house probably will accept the opportunity offered for talking, and as no injury can be done it is likely that the leaders will indulge the members to some extent in this regard.

Senate Program.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The senate will devote its energies this week the arbitration treaty with the vague hope on the part of some of the friends of that instrument of securing a final vote on Friday or Saturday. The senate will early today go into executive session to consider the treaty if no unforeseen circumstance prevents, and thus afford ample time to complete all speeches by Wednesday, when the voting is to begin on the miscellaneous amendments. The consideration of amendments is to continue Thursday provided new ones are offered after Wednesday's proceedings.

Later than that day the senate procedure is not clear. Consent to naming a date for the vote on the treaty itself is still withheld and will not be given until after the fate of the amendments become known. It is surmised that if the Chilton amendment should be accepted the debate on the treaty would soon come to a conclusion, but that if it should be beaten the subsequent discussion would be of indefinite duration.

The appropriation bills are expected to report to the senate after the meeting of the committee on appropriations on Tuesday, but they will not be taken up in the senate until the treaty is disposed of. The bankruptcy bill will also yield precedence to the treaty.

The question of organizing the committees continues to press for attention and may reach a climax during the week. The tariff bill will reach the senate late in the week and be referred to committee, which, however, already has the various schedules under consideration.

Saturday's Congress.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The progress of the house on the tariff bill was even slower Saturday than Friday. Only five more of the 162 pages of the bill were disposed of, making 14 pages in all in the two of the five days allowed for consideration under the five-minute rule. At this rate only 31 pages of the bill will be disposed of, before the bill comes to a final vote.

Only five amendments were adopted

Saturday, all of minor importance, and each an amendment of the ways and means committee. All the questions involved in the tariff, with occasional incursions into the realm of the financial theories, furnished fruitful topics for the members.

Thousands of Applications.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Since the change of administration over 80,000 applications for postoffices have been filed at the postoffice department. The number is said to be somewhat smaller than four years ago. All the papers have been recorded and classified and the cases made up to date. Up to the close of business Saturday the appointment division of the interior department has recorded 1,000 applications for presidential positions under the interior department.

PLAGUES

In Different Shapes Are Removing the Population in Torrid Climates.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Under date of March 20 Sanitary Inspector Burgess of the marine hospital service at Havana, reports that smallpox continues in active epidemicity, the number of deaths from it in the past week being a little more than in the previous one. A number of deaths from yellow fever have occurred in the military hospitals among the Spanish soldiers and one civilian died of it the city, near the cathedral. Intestinal diseases are quite common.

During the week ending March 18 there were 10 deaths from yellow fever and 850 new cases of smallpox, with 91 deaths.

In a report to the state department on the plague in India C. F. Meyer, vice consul of the United States at Bombay, estimates that the exodus from that city to escape the ravages of disease amounts to one-half of the population. The number of people in the city is estimated at this time to be 410,882, as against 831,764, according to the census of 1891. Under date of Feb. 19 last the vice consul says:

"The total number of deaths has decreased from 1,911 last week to 1,728 for the week under report, but as the exodus still continues, this difference is believed to be accounted for by a corresponding decrease of the population still remaining in Bombay, which is confirmed by the low birth rate. The infected area appears to be extending to the east and north. During the week, under the provisions of the 'Dangerous epidemic diseases act of 1897,' most stringent measures have been put in force by the government of India to prevent persons from carrying the infection into districts still reported clear. All persons proceeding from infected districts by land or sea are carefully inspected by government medical officers; if showing any unfavorable symptoms, they are at once removed from the trains and segregated. In Bombay a constantly increasing number of Europeans are being attacked, but a very small percentage of the cases are fatal."

Spiridon C. Zovitziano, in a sanitary report on Crete and Constantinople, has the following to say under date of Constantinople, March 4.

"The sanitary news from the provinces of the Turkish empire is rather good; there exists always many cases and deaths from smallpox here and there, but this disease is epidemic everywhere. Only when vaccination is adopted it disappears. In Turkey, in spite of the law of the regulations and the trades, we have many deaths attributed to this disease. It seems in Crete, as I have already mentioned in my previous reports, it is raging, and now that thousands and thousands of Cretans have escaped from Crete to Greece in order not to be massacred by the Turks or bombarded by the civilized Europeans, it is to be feared that an outbreak of that disease will occur in the different towns of Greece where refugee Cretans are staying."

"In Constantinople we have to deal with an epidemic of influenza, but more serious and fatal is the epidemic of scarlet fever as well as that of typhoid fever. Many cases of these two diseases prove fatal."

FEARFUL

Tales of Suffering Told by the Crew of the Ship T. F. Oaks.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Representatives of the Seamen's union are putting in legal form the story of the alleged cruelty at sea told by the survivors of the crew of the clipper T. F. Oaks, to be used in actions soon to be brought against Captain Reed and the owners of the ship, which reached this port after being 259 days out from Hong-Kong. The suffering seamen alleged that Captain Reed is directly responsible for the illness of all but two of the crew; that they were kept on half rations the greater part of the time, and that the trip could have been made quicker if the captain had taken advantage of favorable conditions.

In their statement the men say the captain did not supply the ship with enough provisions before leaving Hong-Kong; that the entire crew made frequent complaint and at length informed the captain that it was illegal for him to make no better allowances for the crew, to which he replied that he was not afraid of the law. They state that while the men were growing weak from lack of food the captain was living on chickens and other good things. They often grew so weak from hunger that they had to grab hold of the railings to keep from falling on the deck, and it was impossible to climb the masts. Six of the men died on the trip, and the 13 survivors who are now in the hospital here, although they have gained strength since they arrived here last Sunday, have the appearance of being skeletons.

SAILORS HUNGER MAD

Sixteen Survivors of the Lost Ville de St. Nazaire Rescued.

TERRIBLE TALES OF SUFFERING.

Thirteen of Their Comrades Succumbed to Exposure, Hunger and Thirst Before Blessed Relief Came—Those Saved Had Been Without Food and Water For Four Days.

LONDON, March 29.—The British steamship Yanariva, Captain Weston, which left Newport News on March 10, bound for Glasgow, arrived at Greenock last night. The captain reports that on March 12, while in latitude 41, longitude 71, he picked up a small boat containing 16 survivors of the steamship Ville de St. Nazaire, of the West Indian line of the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique which foundered in the great storm of March 7, off the Virginia capes.

They had been without food and water for four days and were in a state of extreme exhaustion and were bordering on madness. The officers and crew of the Yanariva did all in their power for the unhappy victims of an ocean horror and finally learned their pitiful story piece by piece. They say that four boats were launched, two containing 29 each, the third 17 and the fourth six. The boat picked up by the Yanariva was one of the two that took off 29, but 13 of these succumbed to exposure, hunger and thirst. The last survivors saw of the other boats was on the day the vessel foundered, when they sighted two of them lashed together and empty.

For some time after the rescue the captain of the Yanariva kept an officer at the masthead, sweeping the horizon with a glass in the hope of getting some trace of the other boats, but there was no sign of them. As night was falling rapidly and the sea and wind were increasing, with mist and rain, the Yanariva proceeded.

The second officer of the Ville de St. Nazaire is among the rescued, who will be taken in charge by the French consul at Glasgow.

According to the list of the crew of the Ville de St. Nazaire originally published, the second captain was Pierre Nuoli, and the first lieutenant, Andre de Andreis. Nuoli is probably the officer rescued by the Yanariva.

The circumstances under which the rescued boat was picked up by the Yanariva were most thrilling. The captain and third officer who were on the bridge saw a dark object on the waters several miles away. The steamer was put about and in less than half an hour met the life boat of the Ville de St. Nazaire. The sea was running rough but the Yanariva's crew managed to haul the boat on board. They found, to their amazement the occupants lying absolutely helpless in the bottom and two of them raving crazy. The only sign of food was one small tin of biscuits.

Three days passed before the rescued men had sufficiently recovered to take solid food.

The survivors of the original 29 are the second captain, Pierre Nuoli; the second engineer, Germain Girard; the third engineer, Prosper Lorezett; Nicolas Sianvianell of Port-au-Prince, Hayti, and 12 seamen from Martinique.

Second Captain Nuoli says that on the 6th of March the vessel sprang a leak. A violent hurricane blew that night and during the following day. On the morning of the 8th the vessel had sunk so low in the water that it was necessary to take to the boats, although the storm was still at its height. The Ville de St. Nazaire had a complement of eight lifeboats. The first four launched were dashed against the side of the vessel and was pounded to pieces. The other four got clear but soon parted company.

"Our boat," said Second Captain Nuoli, "did not ship a drop of water when getting away from the vessel. This was due to the promptness with which we sheered off. The weather continued very boisterous, and the waves sometimes half swamped us. We kept bailing for our lives with our capes. After a while we rigged a sail and kept the boat running before the wind as well as we could. We were drenched and our sufferings were terrible. In spite of every warning some soon began to drink the salt water."

"Several of these went mad and jumped overboard. Those who refrained from drinking fared the best and they held down others who went mad until their strength failed."

"We kept a constant lookout for a sail but saw none until the morning of the 12th, when we sighted a steamer. She was too far away for us to signal her. We watched with mad anxiety as we saw her steering for us. At that moment we had only four inches of free board on the boat. Every instant I expected she would go to the bottom. At last the Yanariva reached us and we were hauled on the deck."

OHIO SPIRITUALISTS

To Meet at Columbus and Organize a State Society.

COLUMBUS, O., March 29.—The first state convention of the Spiritualists of Ohio will be held in this city May 5, 6 and 7. The movement to organize the Spiritualists of the United States has been in progress for some time. Heretofore the Spiritualists of each city have acted entirely independent, and have not had the standing in the social and religious world which would be the case from point of numbers had they worked together and in an organized manner. The convention, which lasts three days, will be the occasion of state organization. The headquarters will be permanent, and all future state conventions of Ohio will be held in this city so long as this remains the seat of Spiritualistic government.

CONSUMPTION

May Cheat the Gallows in the Case of Murderer Gentry.

PHILADELPHIA, March 29.—For the first time since July 2, 1896, when he was sentenced to be hanged, James B. Gentry, the murderer of Actress Madge Yorkie, had a consultation with his legal adviser. This privilege was afforded him by the new law which became operative on Friday. Lawyer George F. Muncie, who defended Gentry, had a consultation with his client. They talked over the possibility of securing clemency, and while much dejected and weak from the ravages of disease, Gentry showed that he was not without hope. At no time during the consultation did he express a desire for spiritual ministrations.

After coming from the prison Mr. Muncie said that he was shocked by Gentry's changed appearance. In fact, consumption had taken such a hold on the man that it seemed doubtful if he would live until April 22, the date fixed for his execution.

ANOTHER CANDIDATE

May Be Substituted if Hunter Does Not Win Soon.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 29.—The senatorial situation underwent no important change. A large number of legislators and politicians, who had spent Sunday at home, returned last night, and the situation again became full of interest. Mr. Sam J. Roberts, late chairman of the Republican campaign committee, and generally regarded as McKinley and Hanna's personal representative in Kentucky, arrived from Lexington and was ushered into a conference with ex-Secretary of State Sam M. Taylor of Ohio, which lasted till a late hour. The conference is supposed to have related to the dual subject of Hunter's election, if possible, and the substitution of a new candidate if Hunter does not win on the next ballot or two.

The anti-Hunter men in the legislature gave out a statement last night, explaining more fully the grounds of their opposition to Hunter. Several hot shots are also fired at Senator Hanna. The anti-Hunter leaders claim that they will have one and probably two accessions from the Hunter ranks today. At any rate an election on today's ballot is not considered possible.

GOING UP.

Manufacturers Decide to Raise the Price of Glass.

MUNCIE, Ind., March 29.—A general advance in the price of window glass is to be made April 1 by the Pittsburg and Western Manufacturers' associations, which absolutely control the entire output in the United States. The manufacturers did not make the open statement that an advance is to be made, but this was their significant action, transacted and put in a very terse manner:

"We will not sell any more glass at the present prices that can not be delivered before April."

This action was taken at a meeting of the joint executive committee at Pittsburg Thursday. This was a politic way of notifying the jobbers and retailers that glass could not be secured after April 1 at the present prices, or in other words, that an advance is to be made. Just what the increase will be T. F. Hart, manager of the Western association, declines to say. Trade is very heavy, better than it has been for years. The factories are all running full time and the trade, Mr. Hart says, is equal to the capacity.

HEADLESS BODY OF BICYCLIST.

Ghastly Find in a Catch Basin Near Chicago.

CHICAGO, March 29.—Those who are searching the catch basin at Dunning, from which was taken a headless body Saturday, discovered sufficient wearing apparel and parts of the body to warrant the theory that the ghastly finds are evidence of a hold-up of a bicycle rider, who, because he resisted, was murdered.

A bicycle shoe, in which was a portion of a foot clad in a black stocking and a piece of a sweater, were fished out of the basin.

The bicycle shoe discovered is a No. 7 in size, of the best make, and but little worn. The color of the sweater or grade of the material of which it was made, can not be made out. There is nothing about the shoe, sock or piece of sweater to indicate the name of the person who wore them.

The catch basin in which the body was found has not been cleaned for a year. It is believed the head will be found in the basin.

Death From Hydrophobia.

SCRANTON, Pa., March 29.—Benjamin H. Bevan, aged 12 years, one of the eight boys bitten by a mad dog three weeks ago, died Saturday night from hydrophobia. The first symptoms appeared last Thursday, since when he steadily grew worse. In the afternoon he was writhing in agony and frothing at the mouth, with the hallucination that some one was going to shoot him. At 8 o'clock he lapsed into a semi-comatose condition and later passed away.

Two Thousand Women Register.

FORT SCOTT, Kan., March 29.—Registration for the coming city election closed here with over 2,000 women enrolled. During the day they worked like beavers, driving from house to house in carriages and conveying voters to the registration booths in large numbers.

SOUTHWEST TWISTER

Strikes Austin and Vicinity With Terrible Effect.

ALL WIRE SERVICE PROSTRATED.

Everything in the Path of the Cyclone Laid Waste, Though the Report of Deaths Resultant Are Few—State University Badly Injured—Many Seemingly Miraculous Escapes.

AUSTIN, March 29.—Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock this city and surrounding country was visited by terrific cyclone that did no end of damage to life and property. The wind came from the southwest and blew at about 60 miles an hour for nearly 20 minutes, tearing down trees or splitting them asunder with terrific force. Several large electric light towers were blown down, entailing a loss of some $4,000 or $5,000, inasmuch as the iron frames were twisted as though they were of the very smallest wire, and will be useless. In addition to this quite a number of houses in the residence portion of the city were blown down and in several cases narrow escapes from deaths are reported.

The new and unoccupied residence of Mr. Burt McDonald, one of the prominent residents, was blown down, striking against the residence of Mr. William Vining, knocking in one side of the building and narrowly escaping killing two little children that were in the room playing. The wind played havoc with several lumber yards in the eastern portion of the city, blowing piles of lumber in every direction and scattering ruin and waste on every side. The roofs of a number of residences were torn off and blown a great distance, and in addition to doing much damage to the state university the wind blew off the entire roof of adjoining dormitory, letting the rain drive full into the 4-story building, doing inestimable damage to the building and property of the 200 students therein, many of whom fled for their lives when the roof was carried away. The roof was carried 100 yards, lighting on and crushing the roof of a cottage in which four people were seated, but none were even injured, though they were entombed by falling debris.

A church just north of the university had the entire east side blown in and was unroofed, the wind carrying the roof a block away. The residence of Dr. Graves, immediately north of the church was lifted from its foundation, twisted completely around and set down in the same place, so badly damaged, however, that none of the doors could be opened to permit the escape of the frightened inmates.

The small town of Clarksville, near this city, was swept by the winds and many horses were killed by flying debris, while a number of small houses were blown down, though fortunately the inmates were not killed but several were badly maimed. With the terrific wind came a driving rain that was little shot of a flood and swept everything before it. Persons arriving on the evening trains tell, and reports from the surrounding country are to the effect that the storm was general in this section.

The small town of Buda, near here, was badly handled by the storm, quite a number of houses being blown down and one or two persons killed, though their names are not obtainable, owing to the fact that most of the telegraph wires are down and news is very meagre. This is the worst storm that has ever visited this section and it has laid waste everything in its track, though fortunately so far the reports of deaths resultant are few.

The storm was over in an hour, and the sun came out as brightly as though nothing had happened.

At Calvert an old lady and two children who were in their house were fatally injured by the collapse of the building, which was partially destroyed by fire notwithstanding the torrents of rain which were falling. The loss to property in and around Calvert is estimated at $190,000. Many roofs and chimneys were blown down. People living here for 25 years say they never witnessed such a fearful storm before. All telephone and electric, as well as telegraph lines, were prostrated.

AZTEC CHARACTERS

Found in an Ancient Tomb Uncarved Near Cromwell, Ind.

LAGRANGE, Ind., March 29.—Workmen near excavating a piece of woodland near Cromwell unearthed what is thought to be the burying ground of an ancient race. Cromwell is the center of historic territory and what was once a large Indian reserve. The workmen were digging when a hard substance was struck, which proved to be a peculiarly shaped stone. This covered perfectly an ancient tomb. The tomb contained the skeleton of an aborigine, covered with ornaments.

The body was bent so as to fit the tomb. Near the left hand of the skeleton was a clay vase, which contained ashes.

The stone of which the sepulcher is made is foreign to these parts, nothing like it having ever been seen. The stone covering the sepulcher is covered with Aztec characters. Farmers have plowed up several stone covers similar to that on the tomb, and it is thought that the ground may prove to be the burial place of an ancient race.

AUGUSTA, Me., March 29.—In the senate yesterday the bill to prevent the reproduction of prize fights by photograph, kinetoscope, etc., was passed to be engrossed.

MASS CONVENTION.

Democrats to Meet Saturday, April 3rd, to Select Delegates to District Convention.

To the Democracy of Mason County: There will be a mass convention of the Democrats of Mason County Saturday, April 3rd, 1897, at 1 o'clock p. m. at the court house for the purpose of selecting delegates to represent said county in a delegate convention that meets at Vanceburg, Ky., on Wednesday, April 7th, 1897, to nominate a candidate for Circuit Judge and Commonwealth Attorney for this the Nineteenth Judicial District, to be voted for at the ensuing November election, 1897. Let there be a full attendance.

JOHN W. ALEXANDER,
Chairman Democratic Executive Committee, Mason County.
T. D. SLATTERY, Secretary.

INDICATIONS.—Fair in the morning;
rain in the evening or night; warmer; southeasterly winds.

BRADLEY intends to be boss of the Republican party in Kentucky, or "bust"
the party. That's what.

THERE is no likelihood that Governor Bradley will call out the State troops to suppress the six refractory Republican legislators.

"Hot roasts" are being served daily
now to the refractory Republican legislators, and one is thrown in now and then for Governor Bradley.

REPUBLICAN "indignation meetings," gotten up per orders from Hunter's headquarters at Frankfort, are figuring quite prominently in the Senatorial contest.

THE thought of allowing any one else to step in and supplant him as boss of the g. o. p. in Kentucky is just too much for Governor Bradley. It's too, too awful.

THE editor of the Vanceburg Sun, who went over to the Republicans last fall, came out last week against Dr. Hunter,
the party nominee for U. S. Sena'tor.
Br'er Drennan don't seem to know just "where he is at."

THE Hunter Republicans are working themselves into a frenzy over the rough treatment their man is receiving in the Senatorial fight. If the matter isn't soon settled, Governor Bradley may have to order out the troops to protect the six bolters.

FIRST ASSISTANT POSTMASTER GENERAL
PERRY HEATH has issued a rule that offensive partisanship shall not be considered provocation for removal from office unless such action is shown to have been detrimental to the service. This will be unwelcome news to those Republicans who want every Democrat fired from office.

TARIFF OF "ABOMINATIONS."

General Wheeler, of Alabama, in a speech in opposition to the new tariff bill began with the statement that the bill had been secretly prepared by the eleven Republican members of the Committee on Ways and Means and framed almost in the language of the petitions presented by protected interests. Since the star chamber measure came to light, he said, the conservative press of the country had denounced it in unmeasured terms.

The bill increased the duty on many articles far above the McKinley rates and in some instances exceeded the Mc-Kinley rates by from 50 to 100 per cent.
Nearly every paragraph was changed from the ad valorem rates under the Wilson bill to either the specific or compound rates, the effect of which was to increase enormously the duty upon cheaper articles that are purchased by those who work and lessen the tariff upon the expensive articles that are purchased only by the rich. By transferring an enormous quantity of wool from Class 3 to Class 1, the duty on raw wools was increased far beyond any bill ever presented to an American Congress.
Wools that paid 32 per cent. under the McKinley bill would now, he said, pay an equivalent ad valorem of between 200 and 300 per cent., and possibly more.

The duty on corduroys used by the poor was increased to about 123 per cent., absolutely prohibitory. The bill restored the duty on burlaps made from jute used for bagging grain and fertilizers, while the only burlap of this description
made in this country was made in prisons. Carpets of jute, purchased by the poor, had been raised, he said, to an equivalent of 150 per cent. while those used by the rich were taxed 55 per cent.
The tax upon waterproof cloth had, he continued, been increased from the Mc-Kinley rate of 40 per cent. to about 120 per cent.

The reciprocal clauses in the tariff bill,

he thought, never could become operative; the proposition never would be accepted by any Government.

Under the Wilson bill our excess of exports over imports far exceed those enjoyed by our country under the McKinley law. We were now shipping iron tires all over the world, and Alabama was shipping enormous quantities of pig iron to England and other European ports.

The proclamation of the President admitted that our receipts last year were only $25,000,000 less than our expenditures, and the reports of the Treasury now showed that our receipts exceeded our expenditures, and yet, in the face of these facts, the Republican majority sought to pass a bill which they said would increase taxes $113,000,000.

THE RAILROADS.

They Are Doing a Great Work in Developing the South.

[Baltimore Manufacturers' Record]

The railroads of the South are doing more than any ten other agencies to develop that section on safe and healthy lines. They are exerting themselves to the utmost to set forth in conservative and wise manner its unrivaled opportunities, to the end that its vacant places may be occupied by men whose advent to the community will be to its advantage.
They are pointing the way for capital to the mines and to the forests, and are creating industrial centres upon which the neighboring farmers may thrive.

Every new mile of railroad in the South means an enhancement in the value of the land contiguous to it, but every mile falling into decay because the road cannot be run except at a loss, means retrogression. The South cannot afford to lose at this time any means for its advancement. It is dependent upon its railroads. It wants them extended as rapidly as possible. Unjustifiable interference, or even the threat of interference with them, will not aid them to secure the funds for their development, which, under normal conditions, will enable the South to progress and prosper with them.

Trees Full of Electricity.

[Exchange.]

A peculiar feature of the late great wind and snow storm at Huron, S. D., was the great amount of electricity in the atmosphere. It was quite difficult to operate telegraph instruments, so heavily charged with electricity was the air. A touch of the stovepipe with an iron poker or other metallic substance would result in sending a sharp current up the arm and thousands of electric sparks into the room.

Another peculiar fact was the appearance on the tips of tree twigs of bright sparks of electricity. They were seen in different parts of the city, and presented a strange and beautiful sight. On touching the twig with a finger the electric spark would immediately be transferred from the end of the twig to the finger, and there remain as long as the finger was in contact with the twig upon which the spark appeared. Remove the finger and the spark would again take its place on the tip of the twig, and no amount of shaking of the tree could displace it.

SMITH AGAINST THE C. AND O.

Decision of the Court of Appeals Reversing the Judgment Against the Road.

The Court of Appeals has reversed the judgment of the Mason Circuit Court in the case of Smith against the C. and O. Railroad Company. In its opinion
the Appellate Court says:

First—In this action to recover damages for the destruction of a barn and its contents alleged to have been caused by sparks from a locomotive on appellant's railroad the plea of contributory negligence was properly set up in these words, that the appellee "on the occasion in question was guilty of negligence on his part, and that said negligence contributed to the injury complained of by him, and that but for such negligence on his part the injury would not have happened," a specific allegation of the facts constituting such negligence not being necessary.

Second—A statement made by the claim-agent of the railway company to the appellee that he would pay the claim within sixty days was not admissible in evidence either as an admission of liability on the part of the company or as part of the res gestae.

Wadsworth & Cochran for appellant;
Thomas R. Phister and L. W. Robertson
for appellee.

The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Caillouette, druggist, Beavers-ville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery

CINCINNATI TOBACCO MARKET.

General Results Last Week Were More Encouraging—Offerings Quite Large.
Bidding Active.

The Cincinnati Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Company in its circular for the week has
the following:

The general results of last week's tobacco sales were much more encouraging than those of the previous week. Offerings were quite large, attendance of buyers full and regular and the bidding quick from first to last. Old tobacco had one of its occasional spurts and sold better, some very satisfactory sales being made. The stocks of these goods are now not large, but seem to be sufficient to cover the demand. Offerings show hardly anything beyond mediums, and the bulk of what is still held back consists probably of low grades:

The offerings of the crop of 1896, receipts of which are now again quite liberal, do not improve in quality as the season progresses. The same abundance of low grades continue to mark the sales, and the same lack of body appears in the better grades. There was not as much improvement in the prices of these goods as in the old, but they were certainly of quicker sale than the previous week. We quote them as follows:

	Red.	Colony.
Trash.....	$1.00 @ 6.00
Common lugs.....	3.50 @ 5.00	$4.00 @ 6.00
Medium lugs.....	4.00 @ 7.00	4.00 @ 8.00
Good lugs.....	6.00 @ 8.00	6.00 @ 10.00
Common leaf (short).....	6.00 @ 7.00	6.00 @ 9.00
Common leaf.....	6.00 @ 8.00	6.00 @ 9.00
Medium leaf.....	6.00 @ 10.00	7.00 @ 12.00
Good leaf.....	8.00 @ 14.00	11.00 @ 14.00

A considerable part of the offerings is in very high order and does not receive the full competition of the market.

Preparations for plant beds have been much delayed by continual wet weather, but they are now making, we think, the usual efforts for a large setting.

Sometimes the most careful women are the most careless. Many a woman bundles herself up, to keep out sickness—when she is neglecting
the very worst sickness that can come to a woman.
She allows a slight disorder to become worse, to slowly sap her vitality. The little pain and the other slight indications of seem to her unimportant. She goes on, with increasing suffering, until life itself becomes a drag. Nervousness,
"sinking spells," digestive disturbances, and fifty other complications may arise from the derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Over thirty years ago, the need for a reliable remedy for so-called "female complaints" was recognized by Dr. R. V. Pierce, then and now, chief consulting physician to the World's Dispensary and derfully effective remedy that has ever been used for such maladies.

RIGGS ARRESTED.

The Murderer of the Boyds Captured Near Felicity, Ohio—To Be Brought Back To-day.

Amos Riggs, who killed W. R. Boyd and son Mandeville near Mt. Gilead Thursday, was captured near Felicity, O., Saturday afternoon by Constable Utter, of Chilo.

Constable Dawson received a tip Friday that Riggs had probably gone to the Felicity neighborhood where some of his relatives live, and going to Chilo that evening Mr. Dawson put Utter on the case, with the result as above.

Riggs had gone to the home of one of his brothers, it is said, but thinking perhaps that officers would be after him he left and went to a neighbor's where he later found and placed under arrest. He will be given a hearing to-day, and as he has expressed a willingness to return without a requisition, he will likely be handed over to the custody of Constable Dawson, who went to Felicity this morning after him.

Parties who live in the neighborhood where the crime was committed were in Maysville Saturday. One gentleman stated that Riggs had evidently been planning the murder for several days. He had loaded his gun with buckshot, and on the day of the murder he concealed himself either behind a fence or in a sinkhole on the route the Boyds took in going to dinner. People in the neighborhood heard the shots. But a few seconds elapsed between the two reports.

Fully a dozen buckshot struck each of the victims, young Boyd being wounded in the face, chest and arms. His father received most of the charge in the chest, five shot entering just over the heart. Young Boyd had struggled a few feet after receiving the deadly charge, but the old man had fallen in his tracks, and was found lying with his face on his arms.

The Boyds came from near Louisa, Lawrence County.

HANDSOME IMPROVEMENT.

The Messrs. Thomas' Business House on Market to Be Remodeled and Another Story Added.

The contract was awarded Saturday to Messrs. Lane and Worick, and the work will be done this spring.

A handsome iron front will be put in, another story added, and other changes and improvements made, including the putting in of brick pillars and heavy iron beams in the basement for the floors to rest on.

When completed the building will be one of the best business houses in the city.

THE $200,000 necessary to purchase all the capital stock of the defunct First National Bank of Newport has been subscribed by the Directors, and the money, with the stock, sent on to the Comptroller of Currency at Washington by Receiver Wilshire. This will expedite a settlement with the creditors of the bank and the depositors will receive their money at a much earlier date than if the settlement had been made in the customary manner by the receiver. The Directors will probably, with Receiver Wilshire's sanction, assume all the liabilities and collect the assets of the defunct institution.

BRAMEL WILL CASE.

Synopsis of the Decision of the Appellate Court Affirming the Judgment in This Suit.

In affirming the Bramel will case, the Court of Appeals says:

1. Wills—Instructions. On the trial of a will contest, there being no question as to the execution of the will or of the presence of the attesting witnesses or their signatures, it was the province of the Court to say whether the will was properly executed, and these things should not have been left to the jury, but this was not prejudicial to the rights of the appellants in this case, because the jury, by its verdict, found that the will was properly subscribed as required.

2. Credible witnesses to will. The word "credible" in the statute, requiring a will to be attested by two credible witnesses, is used in the sense of competent, and it is for the Court to determine the competency of such witnesses, but the error in submitting it to the jury in this case was not prejudicial to appellants.

3. Instructions. Practice. Instructions given to a jury on a trial are to be considered as a whole, and omissions in one instruction may be supplied by reference to another; therefore, on the trial of a will contest where the jury was told in one instruction that they must find for propounders if they believed the testator to be of sound mind, and in another to find against them if they believed he was unduly influenced, the two instructions should be treated and construed together, although it would be better practice to have added to the last named instruction the words "unless they believe as indicated in the other."

4. Will contests—Burden of proof. On the trial of a will contest the burden as to testamentary capacity of the testator is on the propounders until the establishment of a prima facie case; but after that the burden of showing that the testator was not in fact of sound and disposing mind and memory at the time the will is executed is shifted upon the contestants.

5. Mental capacity necessary—Instruction as to. The capacity required of one in making a will exists when he has mind, memory and will enough to know his property and the natural objects of his bounty and his duties to them, and to understand that he is selecting the persons whom he wishes to have his property, and to dispose of it in accordance with a settled purpose of his own.

E. L. Worthington, W. H. Wadsworth, J. N. Kehoe, A. D. Cole and C. D. Newell for appellants; Cochran & Son and L. W. Robertson for appellees.

"RAH FOR THE REDS."

They Still Lead in the Y. M. C. A. Contest. Mr. King's Lecture at the Sunday Rally.

The lecture to men at the Y. M. C. A. rally Sunday afternoon by Mr. E. A. King, of Newport, attracted a large audience. Mr. King is a plain, straightforward and very earnest speaker, and gave a most excellent talk on "The Significance of Sex," impressing upon all the great importance of right living and the inevitable results of a sinful life. He spoke over an hour, and had the closest attention throughout.

"The Blues" have got a move on themselves during the past few days and are bending every energy to overtake "The Reds" in the contest now on, but so far have failed. The score Saturday evening stood:

"Reds".....21
"Blues".....17
The finish promises to prove exciting, but Captain Cox and his men are determined to win the contest, and they'll do it.

A Clever Rascal.
While a well to do Parisian was returning recently by train from Havre, during the first hour his only fellow passenger in the compartment was a young man who made himself very agreeable. Then others got in, and talk was general. Finally the Parisian dropped asleep. Presently the young man, turning to the other passengers, with a wink toward the sleeping man, said in an undertone, "I'll play a good joke on my uncle." And he unfastened the strap by which a small traveling bag was slung over the shoulder of the sleeper. "I'll change into the next compartment at the first stop, and my uncle will wake up and think he has been robbed. It will be fun to see his face, and I can watch through the little glass in the partition. Don't give it away." The others grinned appreciatively, and the young man presently slipped out with the bag.
Soon after the owner of the bag woke up. He missed his pouch from the strap and jumped up in great excitement, exclaiming, "I've been robbed!" The response of his fellow passengers was a roar of laughter. This added anger to the victim's excitement, and he stormed furiously. Finally one of the passengers assured the angry man that his bag was all right; his nephew had it in the next compartment. "My nephew!" shouted the bewildered man. "I haven't any nephew. I never had a nephew. I don't know anything about any nephew." Then it was the turn of the other passengers to be dumfounded. But the thief got away, and there were several thousand francs in the bag.—Paris Letter.

Two of Tait's Stories.
The late archbishop of Canterbury had many good stories to tell. Two are recalled by his private secretary, Mandeville B. Phillips, in some personal reminiscences, which he contributes to the London Sunday Magazine. One concerned Archbishop Tait's coachman, who was a very original character. One day a clergyman who called at the palace asked him whether he had still as much to do as ever. The answer was sublime. "There's always a goodish bit doing, sir, but it's been a trifle easier since we took young Mr. Parry into the business." The Right Rev. Edward Parry had recently been appointed bishop suffragan of Dover.
Another of the archbishop's stories, also of a coachman, will be new to many. A gentleman living in the neighborhood of Addington, finding that the stablemen were not in the habit of attending church, spoke to his coachman about it. "They ought to go," he said. "That's just what I say myself," was the rejoinder. "I says to them: 'Look at me. I go. And what harm does it do me?'"

Wreck Catches Fire.
PITTSBURGH, March 29.—A West Penn freight of seven cars loaded with merchandise jammed the tracks at Selina, Pa., early Saturday. The wreck caught fire and was destroyed, entailing a loss of $40,000. The crew escaped injury by jumping.

Three Asphyxiated by Gas.
NEW YORK, March 29.—Anthony Marshall, who was found unconscious Saturday afternoon in the Marine hotel, while two women were lying dead in the same apartment, all having been overcome by illuminating gas, died yesterday in the hospital, where he had been taken, without recovering his senses.

Witness Is Assassinated.
MOBILE, March 29.—The Chambliss lynching case in Washington county, in which a number of men were brought to court and given life sentences, resulted Saturday in the assassination of J. H. Hollingshead, who turned state's evidence at the trial and helped convict his associates. He implicated at that time a number of others not before suspected, and gave such evidence as would certainly cause their indictment at the next term of court. It is thought some of these have now put him out of the way. He was shot from ambush near his home.

Calf With Three Ears.
KENTON, O., March 29.—A cow belonging to A. J. Carrolton, who lives north of Belle Center, has given birth to a calf perfectly developed except that the left fore leg is but a mere stump, having an extremely large hoof. The animal's ears are in proper position, and just back of the right one is a third ear growing straight up at the side of the head. The calf appears quite strong.

The Benders Again.
CHILLICOTHE, O., March 29.—Detective George W. Caldwell makes the startling statement that Kate and Jake Bender, two members of the notorious family who murdered nine people near Independence, Kan., over 20 years ago, are now hiding in this county. He has them located and will arrest them as soon as he hears from the authorities in Kansas.

Accident to a Glassblower.
ANDERSON, Ind., March 29.—A heretofore unheard of accident occurred at the Pennsylvania glass works, in this city, yesterday, whereby Frank Sweigle, a blower on glass bottles, broke his jaw by blowing the glass. The pressure of the breath did it. Glass men can not recall an accident of this kind on record.

Another Skunk Farm.
BELLFONTAINE, O., March 29.—Dave Kaylor, a prominent farmer living near this city, has purchased a big tract of land near the Lewiston reservoir, and will start an extensive skunk farm. The skins of black skunks are very valuable, and Mr. Kaylor expects to make money out of his venture.

Declared Against a Reduction.
PHILIPSBURG, Pa., March 29.—At a massmeeting of miners in this city yesterday resolutions were adopted declaring against any acceptance of a reduction in the mining rate and calling upon the men who have accepted a reduction to quit work.

Moved Up One Point.
MONTPELIER, Ind., March 29.—After a standstill of nearly two months, Indiana oil has moved up one point, and is now quoted at 52 cents a barrel.

Burglary at Taylorsville.
COLUMBUS, Ind., March 29.—The drugstore of J. W. Green, at Taylorsville, was burglarized, and $100 worth of jewelry was stolen.
